

Secondary Subject Leadership Community

Phil Eadie
Richard Perring

NCP25 - 15

Fully funded by the Maths Hubs programme. Free to participating state schools.

What is involved?

Maths subject leaders will engage in three face-to-face workshops during 2025/26.

Two communities will be available within the Jurassic Maths Hub region, one for Dorset/BCP schools, the other for Devon schools, to reduce travel times.

Three additional on-line workshops are also available to support new leaders of maths departments.

Community aims

Community workshops are evidence-informed and designed to support leaders with the implementation of positive change within their departments.

Workshops are designed to help schools fully exploit complementary Maths Hub programmes to encourage sustained impact across their entire department. Schools engaging in the following programmes are strongly encouraged to support their maths subject leader by engaging with this community:

Securing Foundations at Year 7
Developing Fluency with Multiplicative Reasoning
Secondary Teaching for Mastery Specialist Programme
Understanding Teaching for Mastery
Collaborative Planning and Lesson Study
Coherence across Maths and Science

The community also provides a mutually supportive environment to facilitate collaboration and practice exchange between subject leaders, attending to local areas of interest/need, as required.

Participating subject leaders will have access to an on-line Basecamp community to facilitate further collaboration, networking and resource exchange between workshops.
